Angry Ratepayers Speaks Out

Utility Board David Dye and Mayor Doug Sutherland amused by Gorilla as Utilities Director Paul Nolan looks on without humor

To the tune of This little light of mine, Mayor Doug Sutherland, Utility Board Chairman David Dye and Utility Director Paul Nolan were escorted onto the stage of Mt. Tahoma High School. auditorium to Meet The People WHile the three city officials agreed to be present at this City Light Movement, they served as reluctant representatives of the WSSPP misadventures. As the meeting progrress, it became questionable as to what was to be accomplished---the crowd was angry and failed to give the officials the opportunity to answer their demands adequately. A little old lady sitting in the audience shouted They've got to give them a chance...

The demands were 1. that WPPSS delay selling any additioal bonds until Initiative 394 is scheduled to go into effect July 1, 1982. This initiative requires voter approval of major energy project budgets before the builder may borrow more money. 2. That City Light join Orcas Island Public Utility District and other utilities in a lawsuit challenging the legality of those utilities' commitment to pay off bond holders on the two cancelled plants, WNP-4 and WNP-5.

3. That part of the bill increase caused by WPPSS be separately identified to help ratepayers withhold that part of their bills. 4. That City Council and Utility Board impose no rate increase this year.

Several people from the audience were allowed to ask questions and make comments. One lady stated that greedy unions, unskilled workers and incompetent management was one of the reasons WSSPP is in the trouble it is in. According to the City of Tacoma Department of Public Utilties, anticipated increases in electric rates should not be imposed until January 1983.

Voices From Black Family Albums

An Exhibit of Photographs and Stories
Now on display at Tacoma Public Library Main Branch, Through March, 1982

An exhibit of photographs and related storreis, Voices from Black Family Albums, offers glimpses into the past and present of black families living in the Tacoma-Pierce County area. It reflects what any set of family photographs must reflect--the inescapable consequences of history: slavery, segregation, discrimination. But the exhibit reveals something else as well: the ordinary, daily lives of Black people -- their memories, expectations, cultural heritage, sense of community. Essentially, the exhibit is about the life history of Black people as lived inside the Black community; to a far lesser extent is it about people's lives as lived in relation to majority society. Allan Correll, Director of Tacoma's Human Relations Department, has said of the exhibit:Through it, one is able to perceive the inner feelings of a group of Americans who, notwithstanding trials and tribulations, were able to laugh and play in their own world.

Who Speaks For Who

James H. Patterson

In the Black Community's Forums. In the Parlance of the Beer Joints, and The Rhetoric of the Barber Shops, Often the question arises as to who speaks for the Black Community. As they say, "Thats a good question!" Now it seems to me since "Charlie insists on seeing the whole community, as "you people", none of us can afford the luxury of being an individual in matters of Race. When Tom Dixon of the Urban League continually says to "Charlie, "Take your foot off the Black Man's neck", he speaks for me. When Dr. Silas says to the City Manager, "The N.A.A.C.P. demands a fair shake for Black Contractors on the Building of The Dome" she speaks for me. When Carl Brown questions Norm Dicks how he will vote on issues concerning Black Folks, he speaks for me. When Dixon, Brown, Silas, Correll, take the T.N.T. to task for the article on County Council Woman Shirley Winsley's tirade against the Asians, they spoke for me. Now I'm not under any illusion, that the rank and file Asian will espouse my cause but I know if we stand by and let (them) the powers that be, take the Asian away in the morning, they'll come for us at night. To many leaders! Well - not so with me. I would that all Black Folks were leaders. They say, "Good Leaders, Make good Followers". To many little splinter groups, you say, well they have their good points. Sometimes, they have the effect of confusing "Charlie", keeps him from knowing, all the time where we are coming from. The Nation of Islam is back with what they say is the Final Call in all things religious, they and I can't agree but when they accuse Charlie of Racism, they also speak for me. Now last but in no wise least, when Black Ministers back Tom Dixon and say discrimination against one is discrimination against all, they speak for me.

Police Search For Lifesavers

At 1 AM, Wednesday, March 10, 1982, a red 1965 Volvo 2Dr, traveling southbound on Pacific Avenue was struck from the rear by a yellow 1979 Dodge pickup. The collision occured in the southbound lanes of Pacific Avenue at South 64th Street. Following the impact, the Volvo burst into flames. The 62 year old male driver and a Tacoma resident was removed from the burning vehicle by a bypasser while another person helped extinguish his burning clothing. Both vehicles were extensively damaged, either as a result of the collision or the fire which gutted the Volvo.

The 25 year old female driver of the pickup truck, also a Tacoma resident, was arrested for Driving While Under the Influence.

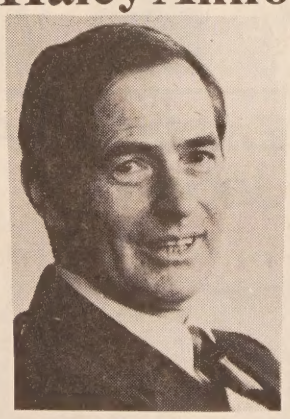
The driver of the Volvo is in critical condition at a local hospital with burns over 40% of his body. The driver of the pickup was treated for facial lacerations and a fractured left hand and released. A 23 year old female passenger in the truck also received facial lacerations.

Several witnesses reported to officers during the preliminary investigation that the yellow truck had passed them earlier on Pacific Avenue weaving at a high rate of speed. As the witnesses continued southboud, they saw smoke and a burning vehicle as they approached the accident scene.

Acting Chief Richard A. Amundsen today expressed his thanks to the individuals who came to the aid of the burning motorist and also to those individuals who assisted in stopping the Volvo which began to move when the starter motor shorted out during the fire and engaged itself.

The Department would like to learn the identity of these persons so they may be formally commended. Also anyone who witnessed the actual collision is asked to call the Traffic Division at telephone number 591-5956.

Haley Announces Intent



Tuesday, March 16, Ted Haley formally announced his candidacy for the United States House of Representatives in the 6th Congressional District. I am doing so because I believe the problems of this country and of this District can be solved by an effective Congress. Our current Congress is not effective", Haley said.

"The foremost problem in this area is high unemployment. Why is there such high unemployment? One of the main reasons is because the forest products industry is depressed. Why because interest rates are high. Why, because the Federal Reserve Board is curbing high inflation. Why has there been inflation? Because Congress won't balance the Federal budget. Why, because Congress is unresponsive, undisciplined and irresponsible, he continued.

Haley said that he has spent 8 years in the State House and Senate learning to balance the Washington State budget, and served for two of those years on the Senate Ways and Means Committee. "We are now in the worst economic crisis we have had since the great depression a half century ago. At that time a strong leader came forth to lead and guide us. Now, fortunately, another strong leader has come forth to lead us through this difficult time. However, during any time of crisis a president needs the cooperation of Congrress - a Congrerss willing to put the future of our nation above self-interest,"he said.

Haley said that as the campaign progresses, he intends to speak out more specifically on his positions on the issues and point out the differences that exist with his opponent, and will run a positive campaign based on the issues.

Free Ads For Job Seekers

In February, Insurance Commissioner Dick Marquardt called for newspapers around the state to begin offering free advertising space for individuals seeking work. Responses to that suggestion have begun to come in to the Commissioner's office and several papers have adopted the idea.

"I am pleased that papers as diverse as the Bainbridge Island Review, the Warden Register, and the Seattle Times have picked up on my idea and are offering free advertisements for individuals seeking work," Marquardt said.

The Longview Daily News has been offering ads for job seekers and now its sister newspaper, the Port Angeles Daily News, is working out procedures to provide a similar service on a weekly or twice-weekly basis. The Robinson Newspapers in Seattle have been offering job finder coupons and free ads for young people.

I am certain there are other newspapers around the state offering this kind of service for people looking for work in this difficult time and, undoubtedly, still others will soon begin to offer such advertisement opportunities. This is a community service employers must pay attention to and take advantage of it if it is to reach its fullest potential, Marquardt said, urging employers to use the free listings.

"I am convinced this effort will help a few people--individuals who otherwise may have remained unemployed--find work," Commissioner Marquardt said, adding, "These papers should be commended for their community spirit, it will not be forgotten.

Are you looking for work? Call The Tacoma Facts for your free job finders listing.

Mind Science

Are You Uptight?

by Archie Tillman

Are you uptight? Can't seem to get that get-up-and-go feeling? Are you troubled with excessive headaches, sleeplessness and just plain fatigued. Do you find that you are yelling at the kids more than usual or snapping at your spouse for no good reason?

Maybe you are a victim of emotional stress. Many men ad women are suffering from the symptoms of emotional stress and knowing how to cope with it. While it is true tha a certian amount of stress is important for evryday living, but excessivbe stress going untreated can be a hidden killer.

Given our present day economnic situation, it is no wonder that many of us are overly stressed. Many of us are faced with being unemployed, having bills due that can't be paid, getting sick and can't get medical help and the list goes on. All of these situations, and others can cause severe emotional stress.

Stress can be defined as undue wear and tear to the body while coping with everyday living. This stress causes a change in how the body functions. Prolonged emotional stress are thought to play a prominent role in certain kinds of heart and circulatory disorders, especially high blood pressure; digestive ailments, such as peptic ulcers and colitis; headaches; joint and muscular pains; skin disorders; and some allergies.

Often medicine cannot relieve the effects of stress. What's necessary is a simple command to our body--to relax. It is also important the we gain some insight about how we function, what emotional stress can and cannot do. Typically, we tend to keep emotional stresses bottled up. Instead, we should look for reasonable ways to work them out. Often, just talking with a sympathetic friend will help; or, crying if we feel the need.

It is important that we understand the importance of our emotional feelings. An emotional feeling is simply our response to our understanding and judgement of a fact or a situation as we see it. It can be pleasant or unpleasant; it can be different, and often is for different individuals. For example, if Mr. Memo loses his job, he may become angry within, but not show it through his outside behavior. While, Mrs. Memo might lose her job and respond completely different. Neither response is right or wrong, but it is likely that Mr. Memo will become a victim of emotional stress.

Learning to understand our emotions helps us to begin to understand how we might respond to a given situation; or, how we might effectively relieve emotional tensions resulting from unpleasant situations. But understanding is the first step. As we reach a better understanding of the common emotional stresses and are able to recognize them instead of trying to ignore them, we shall begin to see a reduction in those illnesses that strike out at us through our own inner conflicts.

For sure, stresses of living are going to occur. There are no easy solutions. However, your overall emotional attitude, physical condition, understanding, and knowing how to relieve tension can help. Here are a few tips:

GET ENOUGH SLEEP AND PLENTY OF REST:Continues lack of sleep and rest will make us irritable and less prone to handle unpleasant situations when this occurs. Most adults need about 6 to 8 hours of sleep per day. If you awake refreshed and energetic, you are no doubt getting enough sleep.

ALL WORK AND NO PLAY: You should strive for a balance between work and play. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is true for us too. An interesting hobby, for some people can be a good way to relax. On the other hand, work can occasionally be a kind of "cure" for emotional situations that are hard to bear, like the death of a loved one, a divorce, or the breaking of an engagement.

LIVE FOR THE NOW: Learn to enjoy what is going on now and don't dwell in the past.

DON'T SELF MEDICATE: If you need medication, see your doctor. Only a doctor can know and prescribe the right medication.

Being in good physical con dition is a key to handling emotional stress.

GET IN SHAPE: Being in good physical condition is a key to handling emotional stress.

Remember, if you believe in yourself, you have already won the battle. There are no problems so big that they can't be defeated.

Next week I will write on the subject: How to succeed at being You.

Prisons OK'd

The state Senate approved legislation March 9, to build two new 500-man medium security prisons and to make $500,000 in repairs to the heating system of McNeil Island prison.

"This is a sign that the state is serious about the problems we have in our prisons and that we are serious about the need for McNeil Island penitentiary," said state Senater Ted Haley, R-Tacoma.

The state is currently negotiating with the federal government to buy the island penitentiary which is now being leased, Haley said.

Grandview, between Yakima and the Tri-Cities, and Clallam Bay on the Olympic Penineula, are the sites recommended in a Department of Corrections study for the new prisons.

Earlier, the state House of Representatives had approved a similar measure which would have built only one prison, at Clallam Bay.

"The present prision population is growing at a rate of 1,000 prisoners a year," Haley said. "We simply must do something to stop the growing over crowding in our prisons."

Original figures from DOC pegged the prison cost at $49 million per prison, but the Senate Social and Health Services Committee cut the costs to $43 million each.

Cell sizes were reduced from 80 to 60 square feet and administrative office space and prisoner "industry" areas were cut back.

"A total fo $12 million for the two prisons was saved by the insistence of the committee that the costs be brought in line with the cost of prison construction in other states," Haley said.

"The alternative to building these new prisons is to let felons out of jail early," he said. "Spending this money now will save us from additional cost and additional crimes by these criminals later."

The legislation allows for bonds to be sold to raise money for construction of the facilities.

The measure no goes back to the House for its consideration of the amendment for a second prison.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the Editor
Ebony Magazine
820 S. Michigan Ave.
Chicago, IL 60605

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my feelings (and the mutual feelings of some people within the black community of Tacoma, Washington) on David N. Franklin, entertainment lawyer in Atlanta, Georgia.

I am in the promotional business promoting young black talent; basically in the Seattle-Tacoma area in Washington state.

In April of this year, my associates and I were going to give a benefit in honor of one of Mr. Franklin's clients, Peabo Bryson. In addition to honoring Mr. Bryson we had also planned to celebrate his 31st birthday. At this benefit, I had scheduled some of our local black talent; singers, dancers and models to perform and talent scouts to watch their performances. The money donated at this benefit was to be given in equal proportions to the United Negro College Fund and to Cancer and Diabetes research.

I sent a letter to Mr. Franklin (certified mail) requesting the presence only of Peabo Bryson. I've called his office twice and spoke with his secretary. She told me that Peabo was getting ready to go on tour and she doubted that Peabo would have time to attend any benefit. Who is she to decide? I asked her if it would be possible to have Mr. Bryson come to Tacoma sometime in the future and she said that I'd have to talk to an Agnes Williams, Mr. Franklin's assistant. Why, after calling this firm twice and getting his secretary's opinion didn't she just tell me who I should have been talking to in the first place? An also why is it that Mrs. Williams hasn't responded to my letter yet? It has been over a month since the firm received my letter. Isn't that ample time for a sophisticated firm such as Mr. Franklin's to give a response?

What kind of business does Mr. Franklin run? Is it customary for the average supporter of an entertainer to get the run-around from a law firm who is suppose to make the entertainer aware of community concern?

In an interview done on Mr. Bryson in Blues and Soul Magazine, February 1978, Peabo said "Your first allegiance is to the people who support you and past that point it's up to you. It's your sincere attitude, your efforts to broaden their horizons. I'm trying to give some of that back, to inject some of that back into the people who support me."

And Peabo has with the strong messages he conveys in his music and with his inspirational voice. We have shown our appreciation one way by buying his music and attending his concerts. (I personally have followed Peabo Bryson avidly since 1978. I believe very strongly in his music and what he has to say.) We simply wanted to show our appreciation further by giving a benefit in his honor to acknowledge what his music has done for us.

But according to Mr. Franklin's firm, Peabo won't have the time.

When I read your article in the October issue of Ebony on David Franklin I was impressed. I had finally found a black person backing another black person. Now I wonder.

What do you think?

Sincerely,

Deidre E Woods

Super Night Out

Photos by Bob Pickens

For those 40 boys and girls who participated in the March 7th, South Tacoma/Hilltop Jaycess sponsored "Super Night Out With The Supersonics", it was more than just another exciting NBA game. Besides all the picture taking, and great basketball action, a genuine comradeship developed between those boys and girls who came from all over the city and surrounding areas.

The Super Soncis and the San Diego Clippers provided not only exciting basketball but a fourth quarter brawl filled with punches and ejections. The excitement and chatter was just as intense over the clinking and rattling of the bus furnished by Peace Lutheran Church.

The spirit of that trip has encouraged us to do more youth based projects. In the past there has been a breakdown of youth relationships with each other. We encourage more men and women to become involved in the Jaycess, so that we can fully and more productively sponsor projects based around the economic survival of our youth, senior citizens, local business, but most of all develop a strong community.

We also want to thank Tim Tweeden for helping to make the trip a success. Project chairperson is Clinton Blake Jr.

The Unfathomable Love of God

by Bishop T.L. Westbrook, Pastor New Jerusalem C.O.G.I.C.

The Lord hath appeared unto me saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: Therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee.
Jeremiah 31:3

But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.

Much more the, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him.

For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son; much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life.

Romans 5:8-10

Dear Lord:

This is my letter to you. I'm troubled this morning so I'm writing to you in hopes of a peaceful mind and soul, I can only receive from you.

Sometimes I cry in my heart because of the malice I feel for my fellowman. And I know it's wrong. You teach us to love one another, no matter what.

Sometimes I cry so deeply inside myself, my soul screams, release me for I can stand no more. But yet, Lord, somehow with help from you day to day, I make it.

I make it, because you Lord look down on me and have ity on a simple human that daily makes so many mistakes. Thank you for each breath I take. Because of your love for me, my heart and soul will find peace another day. Lord, I know you care and you are always there.

Thank You, Lord

Sandy

Malcolm's Sports Report

What about the Roosevelt Roughriders, state AAA champions. I picked mercer island because I saw both teams play this summer. The Roughriders had a lead going in the fourth quarter, M.I. came from behind to defeat the Riders 84-to 81. I saw the togetherness of Mercer Island and the talent of the Riders at that point, and said Roosevelt has the potential of going all the way, if they get their self together, but Mercer Island has the tourney experience by being the sixth grade runners up too, so they had the tourney Expo and the privilege of being there that young and still playing together as a team at the high school level. So therefore I had to go with the number one team in the state, congradulations to the Roosevelt Roughriders, the new AAA State Champions, and their first one ever.

Demitris Carter I am sorry yuou fouled out, but you played a heck of a game. Goodluck to you and the rest of the Riders. The Bombers took third n the post season tourney. Good show Jim Brauly. Congradulations to the Foss Falcons for making it to the State. Watch out for them next year. Woods Barbers took their first game in the East Side tourney 48 to 21, to the championship final. They play Wednesday the 17th of March at 5:30 for the championship at the Eastside Boys Club. As a matter of fact, all the games are at the Eastside Boys Club. I will shoot the finals at you next week.

Roger Laskey I will talk to you next week on the Boy's Club issue. Now that Indiana has lost, I am all the way for Georgetown. Have any questions or answers, drop me a line

Heating $$ Go Out Under The Door

As the end of the winter heating season nears, it's a good idea to think about energy conserving changes to make before it turns cold next fall. Floors around outside doors are often uncomfortable because they're cold and drafty. This is because there's a gap between the door bottom and the door threshold and this gap can easily be as large as four square inches. If the threshold is worn, it's not unusual for the gap to be even larger. Sealing this gap is fairly easy and is definitely a cost-effective step to take to cut heating bills. One method is a new threshold with a vinyl gasket that will seal the gap. Another is a door sweep that attaches to the door and presses against the threshold when the door is closed. To find out more about how to seal up air leaks around doors and also around windows, plan to attend a free Ligh Division and Washington Energy Extension Service class on weatherstripping. The class will meet on Wednesday, April 7, 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Public Utilities Administration Building auditorium, South 25th Street and Union Avenue.

Armistice, Seattle's disarmament orgainzation, announces plans for a "Call for Armistice", a giant anti-nuclear war event on April 17th at 1:30 pm, at the Seattle Center Flag Plaza. A short program will be followed by a festive "New Orleans Jazz Funeral March" to bel]town Job Service Center and the Westlake Mall. The demonstration will provide an opportunity for thousands of people in this area to stand up and call for armistice, a freeze of the arms race, and to articulate the message that nuclear war preparations not only destroy hope for a future, but also destroy today's economy. Call 329-8018 for information on how to become involved.

Nutrition Clinic battles a 'weighty' problem

by 1st Lt. Nora Patterson, Outpatient Dietician

Every book store and magazine shelf is full of advice from "nutritional experts" who are promoting their "revolutionary" new diets. All this advice can be confusing and getting information on a well-balanced diet may be complicated.

The MAMC Nutrition Clinic has the uncomplicated "diet plan;" eat a wide variety of foods everyday and follow the guidelines of the "Basic Four" food groups.

Group one is the milk group which provides calcium, protein and vitamins A and D. Daily portions should be two eight-ounce servings and include yogurt, pudding and custard.

The second category is the bread and cereal group which supplies iron and B vitamins. A daily diet includes four one-half cup servings of noodles, potatoes or other whole grain products.

The meat and high protein group provides protein, iron and B-vitamins. Daily requirements are two to three ounce servings of eggs, cheese, dried beans, soybeans, tofu, nuts or meat.

Group four is the fruit and vegetable group which furnishes fiber, vitamins and minerals. A daily diet should contain four one-half cup servings including one citrus fruit and one dark green or orange vegetable.

Following these quidelines will provide the body with the recommended daily allowance (RDA) for vitamins, minerals and protein. Also part of this diet plan is a recommendation to minimize intake of sugar and fats since they use up the body's supply of many vitamins and contribute none.

For those who need more specific nutritional guidence, the Nutrition Clinic on Ward 34B behind the immunization clinic can help. The clinic is open 8:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday - Friday.

All patients must have a consult form filled out by a physician or other health care provider from a ward or clinic to get an appointment. Patients must then call Central Appointments to be placed on the clinic schedule. One can usually be scheduled within one or two weeks.

Patients with routine consults requesting instruction on weight reduction, diabetes, hypoglycemia (low blood sugar), weight control for pregnant women, hyperlioproteinemia (HLP or high blood fats or cholesterol), salt restricted diets and active duty weight control should expect to attend a one to two hour class on the subject.

People who have dietary problems other than those mentioned such as high or low fiber diets, vegetarians and those with specific nutritional questions also need consult sheets to schedule an individual one-half hour appointment through Central Appointments.

Weekly weight reduction follow-up group sessions are held Monday and Wednesday from 1-2 p.m.. They are set up in a "Weight Watchers" format and all patients who have attended the initial instruction are encouraged to come to one of these sessions or to have an individual follow-up session. No appointment is necessary and patients need not bring their records to follow-up sessions.

The Nutrition Clinic is attempting to increase its services to the MAMC community. In-service coordinators are encouraged to contact the clinic at 967-6780 to set up lectures for ward personnel on nutrition.
